ABBITT ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT PLANS

"I shall always treasure the association I have had with the thousands of people throughout the Fourth District over the years and am grateful for the many personal friendships which I have developed. I count this as one of the most rewarding benefits I have derived from my long service in Congress and in retirement I will look forward to maintaining these relationships."

Representative Abbitt was elected to Congress on February 17, 1948 to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Patrick H. Drewry who had served as Commonwealth's Attorney for Appomattox County sixteen years, between 1932 and 1948.

As Four District Congressman, he represents sixteen counties and the cities of Chesapeake, Colonial Heights, Emporia, Franklin, Hopewell, Petersburg and Suffolk.

Abbitt is dean of the Virginia delegation in Congress and is among the top 10% in seniority among the 435 members of the House. He is 4th ranking member of the House Agriculture Committee, 4th ranking member of the House Administration Committee and one of twelve members of the non-partisan House Ethics Committee. He is chairman of two all important subcommittees and also serves on several other subcommittees.

Representative Abbitt has been active in the political life of Appomattox County and the State of Virginia for many years.

Born May 21, 1908, he is a graduate of Appomattox High School and the University of Richmond Law School. In 1964 he was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws Degree by the U. of Richmond.

While maintaining an active interest in district, state and national affairs, he has retained his active role in his own community, in civic and church affairs.

He is married to the former Corinne Hancock and the Abbitts have three children, Mrs. Anne Abbitt Kerr, Watkins, Jr. and Corinne.

BOARD REVIEWS SCHOOL EVALUATION

gene Peyton said that if requests for federal funds are honored, then the para-professional persons employed next year so that high school teachers may have one free period a day to prepare lesson plans and take care of other instructional duties.

Supt. Smith said that he and Mrs. Pauline DePew, guidance counselor, were investigating possibilities of a foreign studies program, with high school students spending a year abroad.

The board went on record to express appreciation to supervisory personnel and instructors for their diligent work in preparing the evaluation study.

Summer School

The school board approved a five - week summer kindergarden session, a reduction of one week from last year's program because of reduced federal funds. Supt. Smith said that pre-schoolers would still get the same number of hours of instruction through a change in daily schedule. The program will involve about 150 children with seven teachers and eight aides.

Easter Holiday

Supt. Smith said that if no more school days are lost because of snow, the Easter vacation may be extended this year.

New School

Opening for bids for the new county high school is set for Tuesday, March 21 and may be changed to an evening meeting, according to the Superintendent.

Five general contractors and several subcontractors have already indicated interest in the building program.

The board approved six school trips.

A discussion was held as to proper methods for sale and disposal of outmoded school equipment.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

GOD'S "CROOKED STICKS"

Lesson for March 12, 1972

Background Scripture: Acts 1:1 through 2:42

Devotional Reading: Acts 1:1-8

The events in Jerusalem on the first day of Pentecost were a golden opportunity for the earliest followers of Christ. A great crowd of people had gathered in the disciples' room. "What does this mean?" they demanded to know. Here was a great opportunity for the disciples of Jesus to tell them about their Risen Lord.

The only trouble was: who would do the speaking? There wasn't one accomplished speaker among the group of disciples. The people of Jerusalem were accustomed to hearing gifted and learned rabbis.

One Qualification

Nevertheless, Simon Peter stood up and prepared to address the crowd. Just a minute, Peter, before you begin to speak: let's have a look at your qualifications, EDITOR'S NOTE? Almost none to speak of

OCCUPATIONAL EXPERIENCE ? Fisherman

BIRTHPLACE AND HOME? Galilee. (Galileans were not highly thought of by the people of Judah.)

PREVIOUS PERFORMANCE? Deserted his Master in the Garden of Gethsemane. Three times in the courtyard of the High Priest he denied his relationship with Jesus. He is thought to have watched the crucifixion at a safe distance.

CHARACTER TRAITS? Impulsive in action and speech. Blurts out ideas before he thinks them over. Talks a better game than he plays.

ASSETS? Unofficially acknowledged as the leader of the Twelve. One of the three disciples closest to Jesus before his death. Sometimes showed good insight into what Jesus meant.

In the light of all this, would you have selected Peter to speak for Christ on the day of Pentecost? Probably not, for his liabilities seemed to greatly outweigh his assets.

Yet he did have something that doesn't show up on our evaluation of him above: the Holy Spirit! By the power of God's Spirit he was made adequate for this demanding task and golden opportunity.

What God Can Do

One of the things Peter said in his sermon was that, though the people of Jerusalem had moved evil against Jesus, God had turned this defeat into victory. God can take the broken pieces of men's lives and make something beautiful of them. He had done this with Christ's crucifixion, He had done this with Peter's unpromising life. As somebody has said, "God can strike a mighty blow with a crooked stick!"

It is simply amazing what God can do with "crooked sticks" like us when we open ourselves to the power of His Holy Spirit.

The Pastor Speaks

J. J. BOWMAN,
Interiam Pastor,
Liberty Baptist Church

In the twenty-ninth Chapter of Genesis, we read, "And Jacob worked for Rachel seven years and they seemed but a day, so great was his love for her." Three great ideas stand out in this verse, the value of work, the value of purpose; and the effect of purpose on work.

(1) Work is universal. We must work to exist. Even this ancient date Jacob [illegible]. The flocks must [illegible] and the many tasks after the sheep were formed. Many of [illegible] must have been shep[illegible] but Jacob stuck [illegible]. A winner in any [illegible] disciplines himself [illegible] proficiency.

(2) Work must [illegible] pose. Jacob was not [illegible] sheep, he had Rach[illegible]. Every day he must [illegible] "I am doing this f[illegible] When we work with [illegible] our outlook is chang[illegible] a lesson needed [illegible]. The tasks we d[illegible] meals, washing [illegible] cleaning house is [illegible] ment of others i[illegible] Jacob did not mi[illegible] all for his beloved

(3) When we wo[illegible] pose in mind, the [illegible] things of life take [illegible] meaning. To Jacob [illegible] seemed like only a[illegible] moves quickly when [illegible] and happy. This [illegible] hour in a bus station [illegible] to do -- how time f[illegible] pare that hour wi[illegible] company of a dear[illegible] times flies! The [illegible] our motivation.

Like will take on [illegible] when we do our [illegible] purpose and satisfy [illegible] love. This alone ca[illegible] daily lives meaning[illegible]

Shriners Help Young Cowboy

Timothy Oliver Padgett, "Tim", (above) was born with a condition known as "spina bifida", a spinal opening that [illegible] has required six operations. For Tim there's another [illegible] operation coming up on March 27 at the Shriner's Hospital, [illegible]enville, South Carolina. Tim is one of six children of Mr. [illegible] and Mrs. Charles Padgett who live on the Stonewall community road, Concord, and the five year old Tim attends Concord [illegible]munity kindergarten in Concord. For a boy whose life so far has [illegible] been a series of hospital trips and fittings for braces and [illegible] crutches, Tim is a cheerful "cowboy" interested in his school [illegible]work and Sunday School at Early's Chapel United Methodist [illegible] Church where his Mom and Dad are church members. [illegible] Can't praise the Shriners highly enough" says Mrs. Padgett for underwriting the enormous expense involved in helping Tim.

Parents Invited

[illegible]nts of 8th grade pupils [illegible] invited to stop by the coun[illegible]'s office from 7:30 - 8:00 [illegible] 4:00 - 5:30 on Tuesday [illegible] March 14, if you have [illegible]ions about your child's [illegible] program of studies. [illegible] the regular PTA meet[illegible] night and the counselor is [illegible] there herself available to par[illegible]ts who have questions for one [illegible] hour before and one half [illegible] after the P-TA meeting. [illegible] offerings have recently [illegible]n distributed to all 8th grade [illegible]ts so that they may make [illegible] wise choice of subjects for [illegible] next four years.

[illegible]ts are invited to call the [illegible]ce for an appointment at [illegible] if they have questions [illegible] cannot come to the meeting. [illegible]352-8871) School coun[illegible]r Alf Alls is Mrs. Bolling

SCOUTS PRESENT CERTIFICATE TO RESCUE SQUAD

A certificate of appreciation was presented to the Appomattox County rescue Squad by Boy Scout Troop 546 in special ceremonies Feb. 29 to say "Thank you" to two Squad members, Bill Sperry and Abner Scruggs who helped teach the Scouts first aid techniques for a total of nearly 12 hours of instruction.

Bill Sperry, qualified first aid instructor and Scruggs, crew member, accepted the certificate on behalf of the Squad. The instruction helped the Scouts earn credit toward badges in first aid.
